PROFILE

I am a Ph.D. student in Medieval History at The Catholic University of America, studying under the direction of Dr. Katherine Jansen. My interests are in religion, society, and intellectual life in the Middle Ages, and I am currently working on a dissertation project focused on the textual memory of the philosopher Boethius in the Middle Ages.

EXPERIENCE

EDITORIAL ASSISTANT, SPECULUM, A JOURNAL OF MEDIEVAL STUDIES
JULY 2022–PRESENT

As the editorial assistant for Speculum, the journal of the Medieval Academy of America, I am responsible for various tasks across the journal, including overseeing the reception of newly published books sent to the journal for review, writing up brief notices of recent works, working as a liaison between publishers and reviewers, as well as fact-checking articles for publication. I am also responsible for training and managing the Speculum undergraduate intern.

TEACHING ASSISTANT, HIST 235 MEDIEVAL WORLD
CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY — FALL 2021

I served as a teaching assistant for a class on medieval history covering material from the 5th to the 15th century. Each week I led an in-person discussion of primary source materials with a group of fifteen students. I was responsible for grading quizzes, exams, and essays, as well as holding office hours with students both in person and virtually. The class met in-person with various hybrid components, and I was responsible for facilitating the participation of students online as well as in person.

TEACHING ASSISTANT, HIST 214 PANDEMICS: A COMPARATIVE HISTORY
CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY — FALL 2020

I served as a teaching assistant for an entirely virtual semester, teaching about pandemics from the Plague of Athens to the 1918 Flu during a pandemic. I led weekly discussions, answered student questions, and provided feedback on written assignments.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT, DR. MEGAN MURTON
CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY — FALL 2019-SPRING 2020

I assisted Dr. Megan Murton with research for an upcoming project, focusing on the medieval reception of Boethius' Consolation of Philosophy. I collected and annotated bibliographies, gathering sources in English, Latin, German, and French. In addition, I edited the manuscript of her forthcoming book in preparation for publication with Boydell & Brewer.
